Modern Slavery Statement

Our organisation operates within the Education sector as well as software development which is all completed in house. While we strive to maintain high ethical standards throughout our organisation, we acknowledge the potential risks of modern slavery in certain parts of our business.

To address these risks, we have implemented robust policies and procedures specifically designed to prevent and combat modern slavery. These policies outline our zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery and set clear expectations for our management and staff.

We have identified that the highest risks of modern slavery may occur in our Alternative Provision. In response, we have established due diligence processes to manage and mitigate these risks effectively via our Safeguarding policy, Designated Safeguarding Lead and Deputy Safeguarding Lead as well as all staff as it is everyone's responsibility to safeguard our young people.

Furthermore, we prioritise the training and capacity building of our staff to raise awareness of modern slavery and equip them with the knowledge and skills to identify and address any signs of exploitation. This includes training sessions, resources, and ongoing support to ensure that all employees understand their role in preventing modern slavery within our organisation.

At School of Coding & AI Higher Education, we understand that combating modern slavery requires a collaborative and proactive approach. We are committed to continuously improving our practices, engaging with stakeholders, and working towards a future where modern slavery is eradicated.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and represents our commitment for the financial year 2025-2026.
